NORTH AMERICAN STEEL ALLIANCE MEMBERSHIP

The North American Steel Alliance is the largest metals purchasing cooperative in North America with the buying power of over $9 billion. NASA represents 122 independently operated metals service centers in the United States and Canada, with the reach of over 450 distribution and processing facilities. NASA member companies offer a wide range of steel materials including flat-rolled coil, plate, structural, merchant bar, tubular products and specialty products. NASA is focused on defining, developing and promoting business solutions through the selective participation and commitment of the NASA community, which includes 75+ suppliers and 122 service center owners. NASA provided company information. Modern Metals made every effort to ensure accuracy.
